

THE GOVERNOR'S REASONS.

Governor Jones has refused to assist the Governors of the different Pacific States. Governor Budd, of California, wrote to him asking him to appoint a committee of three to act with a like committee from the several states, to devise ways and means of holding one or both the Republican or Democratic National Conventions in San Francisco. He absolutely refused to appoint the committee on the grounds that he was a Silver man. Wonder if he would refuse to touch a gold coin. —Yerlington Rastler.

The Governor's reasons for declining to act hastily in the matter were fully set forth in his letter to Gov. Budd, published last week in the APPEAL. It was simply from a proper sense of delicacy and in his letter to Budd he explained his position and asked for further suggestions. Yesterday in a conversation with the Governor the matter was brought up and he said:

"I do not wish to assume the responsibility of acting for either of the old parties, as my action might easily be misconstrued. My idea is that the Republican and Democratic State Central Committees are the proper parties to suggest names, and I would like to state in the APPEAL that if the committees will send me the names of those they wish appointed, I will take pleasure in forwarding them to Gov. Budd at once."

The Republican papers are trying as hard to place Gov. Jones in a false position as they did in the election to defeat him. Had he made the appointments as first suggested the same papers would be commenting on the Governor's gall in presuming to select delegates from parties to which he did not belong. His good sense prevented him from acting hastily and the Republicans are mad about it.

"Melt 77."

The present Mint administration will probably be slightly embarrassed in their effort to lay the blame on the previous administration. The history of settlement "No. 77" is about as follows: The bar in question came from the Bodle Standard mine in 1892 and was received at the Mint and numbered "77." It was 481½ fine in gold. Upon testing the bar the assayer found it could not rightfully be classed as a gold melt, and so changed the number to silver melt "No. 164." Now "164" instead of being 481½ fine is only 19½.

Now, the Savage bullion received at the Mint, December 17, 1894, and the "spurious melt" are identically the same in gold, 19½, and only three points difference in silver. Inspector Mason testified that chips from the opposite side of a silver dollar often varies this much, and ten points difference was found in a French 5-franc piece.

The discovery was then made two months later, or in February of the present year. An explanation of the resemblance between the two melts might do much to solve the problem. —News.

The defense has placed a good deal of stress on the Savage melt because it so nearly agrees in fineness with melt 77, the one with a $2,000 shortage. Because similar bullion came in during a Silver administration they seem to think it shows that the Silver men are accountable for the shortage.

The bogus melt was received during the Republican administration and the records show it. The bars were turned over to the present administration as being genuine when they were bogus. The bogus melt is all traced by the books, and the fact that the Savage mine sent bullion there subsequently which only went 19½ gold cuts no figure in the case except it enables the lawyers to confuse and cloud the issue.

Rather Late.

The Enterprise has been fortunate in securing the services of one of the foremost journalists of the State to go to Carson and report the Mint investigation. We are no longer dependent upon the garbled accounts of the Jones case which appear in the Carson papers, the Associated Press dispatches or chance correspondents which we might obtain to file us a news dispatch from Carson. We are now prepared to offer our readers news of the latest development in the investigation obtained from a reliable source. Our Mint news will not be a day old, but will appear on the morning following the occurrence. We trust that the Comstock public will appreciate our enterprise. —Enterprise.

Our Comstock neighbor is rather late with its display of enterprise. It looks as if the defense was disgusted with its two Carson organs and was calling in more help.
